The New York Sun's Washington special says "Admiral Porter is refitting and furnishing his house here ready for occupancy next spring when he expects to come here as Secretary of the Navy under Gen Grant He is now in command of the Naval Schools at Annapolis"

A New York letter writer says of Wm B Astor, that he "never did an hour's labor in his life never did a kindly act, never knew a wish gratified had not a real friend on the planet. The late Democratic Legislature of Ohio having enacted that no device of any kind should be printed on ballots nothing but the bare names of the candidates and the offices for which they were supported, and the Democrats of Monroe county having headed their ballots "The white man's Government" the State Commissioners have been constrained to reject them all, returning the Republican candidates as elected in that Democratic stronghold

The dispatch from New York that Gen Grant desired before accepting an invitation to Evarts dinner to know whether Randall McCulloch and Welles were to be there as he did not wish to meet either of those gentlemen, went through each one of them as if the current which came over the wires continued its course till it struck the persons named with a miniature lightning bolt. The aversion of Gen Grant to social intercourse with these men arises from their certifying to Mr Johnson that General Grant had lied in his statement about turning over the War Office to Mr Stanton. The feeling is most bitter against Mr Randall McCulloch and Welles confined themselves to furnishing the written versions Mr Johnson wanted

Naturalization Frauds

One of the processes of swindling in elections which is extensively resorted to by Democratic politicians and which has in fact, become their main reliance is thus photographed by the St Louis Democrat

There is a process of swindling which is absolutely unlimited. For large operations therefore it is becoming decidedly the favorite. Briefly described, it is this. A Democratic scoundrel wearing the title of a judge calls over in court an hundred names for which some other scoundrels appear. Very likely these other scoundrels may be voters already, but in their real names. They now want a second vote each and take each a new name. Still other scoundrels swear whatever is necessary, and papers are issued to the one hundred names which really belong to nobody. Having the papers these one hundred scoundrels now proceed to wards other than those in which they really live and there register as voters by the new names. If the impertinent Republicans are looking up these cases, the Democratic scoundrels, called a committee, supply each imaginary voter with an imaginary residence, thus thirty names were registered at the last election in New York as residing at the house of a prominent alderman. With imaginary names, imaginary residences and papers to match, the one hundred scoundrels on election day vote first in their own names and then vote on their papers, and if anybody intrusively arrests them, they go joyfully before another Democratic scoundrel called a judge, who straightway releases them—as Judge McCunn did a few hundred on election day in New York

Now each of these hundred scoundrels can get just as many papers and names as he can register and vote upon, and as many scoundrels can be found in a large city as may be needed. One able bodied man, it is calculated can vote at about thirty precincts in New York, three hundred of them properly supplied with papers would just make Seymour nine thousand majority in the State. And of such are the victories of modern Democracy

No wonder the papers of that party are very wrathy at the prospect that these infamous swindles may be stopped by new laws. But decent citizens, who do not like to be voted down by imaginary men have the opinion that the Democratic editor who excuses these frauds is a scoundrel and that he, with the other scoundrels who perpetrate them ought to be hanged to the nearest lamp post! Talk of swindlers who take a man's money. They are saints compared to the infernal villains who deliberately steal the right of suffrage from the people of a whole State, by voting dead men and no men at all in number large enough to overcome any honest majority! Even the Universalist we think must admit that if there is not a future punishment for such rascals then there ought to be!

GEN GRANT AND HON E B WASHBURNE.—The Galena Gazette, of November 12th has the following

Nearly all our Republican exchanges in speculating upon the formation of Grant's Cabinet take it for granted that some place will be assigned to Hon E B Washburne. A few Democratic journals assume that Mr Washburne will expect something and that General Grant can do no less than accede to his wishes. Now Mr Washburne has never alluded to this subject in our presence and quite certain it is that he has not done so in the presence of any living man, hence whatever may be said relative to his desires is merely speculation. But of this one thing we feel very sure viz that Mr Washburne will neither demand nor even ask any appointment whatever within the gift of General Grant. If he receives an appointment it will be the free will offering of the President elect bestowed on account of eminent fitness for the position. It may be safely assumed that Mr Washburne seeks no advancement. The position which he occupies as a leading member of the National House of Representatives gives him as high a distinction as any statesman need desire and whether he shall remain in his place in the House or be called to another position the incoming administration will have no more earnest supporter than E B Washburne. At an early date Mr Washburne was an earnest advocate of the election of General Grant to the Presidency because he believed that no other man was as well calculated to bring harmony out of discord and restore peace and prosperity to the country. Having done this with a desire only for the best good of the nation, and with no selfish purpose, he will ask no reward

The Romance of Bankruptcy Enoch Arden Outdone

Under the above caption the St. Louis Republican tells a rather sensational story which we condense as follows

Who is it that does not remember the financial crash of 1857. Many of our most enterprising merchants had to succumb to the pressure of the time. Among them was a merchant whom we shall call Smith. His real name and some of the circumstances we are about to relate will doubtless be recollected by many in St Louis even to-day. He kept an extensive mercantile establishment on street and by his enterprise and promptitude won the confidence of the best houses in the East and West

He had a young wife and three little children. They lived in a neat little villa in a fashionable portion of city and the neighbors said a happier family did not exist in the State of Missouri

The crash came, his debtors were unable to meet his calls and as a consequence he was unable to meet the demands of his creditors. His first resolve was to make over the villa to his wife and family, and secure an annuity of $600 a year for the support of herself and children, and leave the city secretly. So one night he rallied fourth determined to rebuild his fallen fortunes or perish in the attempt. Proclamations and rewards were of no avail, and the universal verdict was "mysterious disappearance

Mrs Smith mourned her husband as dead for two years till she wisely concluded it was useless to mourn any more so she decided to receive the proffered attentions of Wm Bradford, an old bachelor a companion of her late husband

But her happiness was not destined to be perpetual for Wm Bradford was afflicted with consumption and died during the last spring, leaving his wife for the second time a widow. To her and his children fell his business which she converted into cash, realizing a sum that placed her and her children in easy circumstances

During all these years what became of Smith? He made his way to Montana and worked in the mines, where his intelligence and enterprise soon put him on the road to wealth. Some years after he went there the small pox broke out among the miners, and he had caught the infection, from which he recovered but so pitted that his mother would not know him

Last spring he struck a rich vein, and beheld in the bags of gold dust around him enough to liquidate all claims against him and place himself and his family—if they still were in existence—in luxury for the rest of their days. He sold out packed up, and reached St Louis about the 1st of June

Preserving an incognito, he inquired for Mrs "Smith" Nobody knew her or knew of her

At length he met a person who was acquainted with the circumstances of Mrs Smith's second marriage, and when Mrs Bradford was pointed out to him he recognized the form and features of his long lost wife, after some difficulty he obtained an introduction to her, and concealing his name and knowledge of his immense wealth, he wooed and won her. She gave her consent to be his on the promise that the children of the two previous marriages should be well treated by him

On last Thursday evening, in the old villa, a clergyman was summoned to tie the nuptial knot, when the real name of the new suitor, and his former relationship were disclosed, and, although the bride fainted, it was a reunion. He was happy to see his children well grown in body, soul and intelligence in the intervening eleven years

The facts, which we have learned from the clergyman who performed the ceremony, are a romance that beats Enoch Arden to pieces

THE ALASKA PURCHASE.—The Boston Post has a Washington special which contains some very serious charges in relation to the Alaska purchase. It says

When the Alaska purchase had been completed and the bill appropriating $7 200,000 had passed Congress, there was much speculation all over the country as to what portion of this purchase money had been used in feeing members of Congress and subsidizing the press. In the bustle of politics and under the pressure of events these speculations ceased and both Alaska and the lobby were soon forgotten. A few weeks ago the subject was again revived by a mysterious whispering around that certain parties had by some means, either fair or foul possessed themselves of an accurate and detailed list of the several sums of money paid out here to secure the passage of the Alaska appropriation, and the names of the parties receiving the same. The payments it was said, amounted to $2,200 000, and only $5 000 000 would be paid over to the Russian Government

A single member of Congress was reported to have received for his share of the booty a quarter of a million while each of the New York leading journals was put off with $10 000. This report had its day and was also soon forgotten, the cable dispatch stating that the Barings had drawn a draft in favor of Russia for one million pounds sterling in payment for Alaska has revived the story, and this draft being the exact amount that Russia would receive, has given a strong color to the charge that the other two millions two hundred thousand were distributed on this side of the Atlantic. It may be that the Committee of Congress will be raised to investigate these charges, and determine how much it cost the Russian Government to secure the money for the sale of her North American possessions

We are not prepared to credit this story, even with our enlarged views as to the rascality and corruption prevalent in almost every political circle in Washington. Yet we give the story for what it may be worth

MANAGEMENT OF ENGLISH ELECTIONS.—There is no uniform day for voting in England as there is here but the limit of variation in time cannot much exceed a week. In every place entitled to be represented in Parliament is a person called "the returning officer" whose duty it is to manage the election. In counties the sheriff, and in cities and boroughs the mayor, bailiff or some other person duly appointed is the returning officer. The writs from the Lord Chancellor of the kingdom are dispatched to the returning officers commanding them to elect their members which they must do in boroughs within six days after the receipt of the writ while in counties twelve days are allowed but the election must not be held sooner than the sixth day. Upon the day fixed called the nomination day a covered platform called the hustings, is erected in the principal town in counties and in some convenient locality in other places upon which the candidates for election and their friends assemble. The returning officer takes the oath against bribery, and for the proper discharge of his duties. The candidates are proposed by one supporter and seconded by another. They then address the electors stating their political opinions, and their claims to represent them. If the number of persons proposed does not exceed that which the electors are entitled to send to Parliament they are elected then and there. If more be put in nomination and a contest arises the returning officer calls for a show of hands and declares which candidate has the greatest number held up for him but as there is no way of discovering whether all who thus give their vote are entitled to one any candidate unwilling to abide by this decision may demand a poll. When this is taken each elector appears before persons appointed by the returning officer as his deputies and decides for which candidate he intends to vote. This vote is created by the clerks in the poll books which at the expiration of the time allowed by law for polling are taken to the returning officer. The votes are added up and the candidates who are found to have gained the highest number of votes are declared by him to be duly elected. In counties the poll remains open for two days in cities and boroughs for one only

A Staten Island factory turns out a ton of "chewing gum" daily.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.—Before going off to Mexico Gen Rosecrans gave the points for a grand combination of Southern and Western railroad interests in behalf of a raid on Congress for government aid to build a Southern Pacific railroad. He states the case in the best way and such a combination with such a purpose would certainly come before Congress with great power and promise of success

1 This is the congressional session when the outgoing wishes to do something gracious, and the incoming administration ought to be glad to get rid of the responsibility and appropriations in aid of our railroads, and both ought therefore to favor the required appropriations

2 The development of the South and West, and the construction of a southern trans-continental railroad are so abundantly fraught with public benefits that if those interested use proper means to lay the facts before the country they can create a public opinion that will bear their measures through Congress promptly and without [illegible] effort,

3 I earnestly suggest that only [illegible] four of the principal lines say the [illegible] Branch Atlantic and Pacific, and Memphis and New Orleans, and Fulton or Shreveport—ought to ask subsidies to the valley of the Rio Grande

4 That thence to the Pacific there should be but one grand trunk line, over which all the westward bound lines, from the Mississippi and Gulf to the valley of the Rio Grande, should have equal rights to run trains at uniform rates and charges

5 That the rights and subsidies for its construction from the Rio Grande to the Colorado should belong to that one of these lines which should first reach the initial point to be fixed in the valley of the Rio Grande, and from the Colorado westward to the Southern Pacific railroad company, or to the San Diego and Gila City railroad company

6 That the initial point should be fixed in the valley of the Rio Grande, near El Paso, because that will open 200 miles of that [illegible] and fertile valley, accommodate all the [illegible] ward bound railroad lines from the [illegible] Branch to the Rio Grande, give an [illegible] point for a railroad to Chihuahua, and for an overland thence to the Pacific.

7 To effect the best results, the friends of these railroad lines should organize, appoint special representatives under one [illegible] head, and discuss and arrange the [illegible] which this head should carry out

THE NATURALIZATION FRAUDS IN NEW YORK.—That independent and very able journal, The Nation states in the following language the magnitude of the alleged frauds by which, it is believed, the vote of New York was secured for Seymour

"The monstrous frauds by which New York and New Jersey were carried against [illegible] and which were intended to carry Pennsylvania also are perfectly notorious. Their magnitude is such as to make it [illegible] to believe in their existence, and almost [illegible] to overcome their effect. Their existence is not, however, seriously disputed. Mayor Hoffman denounces those who attempt to [illegible] prevent these frauds, but [illegible] from denying that they have been [illegible] He could not look any man in the face while he did so. No politician pretends [illegible] them. These frauds may be briefly [illegible] up thus. 50,000 persons were [illegible] in this city, of whom 20,000 to 25,000 [illegible] near the courts, and not more than 10,000 to 15 000 at the outside were ever sworn, or were entitled to their papers. At [illegible] 120,000 fictitious names were registered in the [illegible] of New York and Brooklyn, the number was probably greater than this, but could not [illegible] been less. In a single ward votes were cast upon more than 2,000 fictitious names. To deter Republican challengers, one of the [illegible] conspicuous was knocked down in the [illegible] of the day, and as nearly murdered as it was in the power of his assailants to do. Several thousand of the vilest roughs in the two [illegible] were appointed by the sheriffs to [illegible] challengers and to force in fraudulent votes. The fraudulent naturalization papers were [illegible] tered over the State of New York, and [illegible] reduced Grant's majorities in the [illegible] counties. Votes upon fictitious names [illegible] ever could only be cast in the large [illegible] where it is impossible to know all the [illegible] at a poll. Without these, the State could not have been carried for Seymour, although the majority for Hoffman is probably large [illegible] to dispense with this aid."

H RIVES POLLARD.—The death of H. Rives Pollard by violence was only a question of time. He was morally certain to come [illegible] a man who would respond to his virulence by shooting him. Pollard was a social porcupine not to be approached without danger of a wound from his poisonous quills. He succeeded better than any man of his time in nursing quarrels. He seemed to be unhappy without from one to a half [illegible] upon his hands. If he could not provoke them in the community, he stirred them up in his domestic sanctuary. To be disagreeable himself, and infect others with the same feeling, seemed to be the ambition of his life.

In politics he was specially [illegible]. When the Confederacy, in whose behalf he flourished a valiant pen in the face of the Yankees, was de facto he railed, like Thersites in the Greek camp, at everybody and everything connected with it. Neither civil nor military measures seemed to satisfy him, and when the fortunes of the rebellion began to decline he mercilessly attacked the officers of the Government and the commanders of armies, and did as much to demoralize the cause and sow dissatisfaction broadcast as it was in the power of a malevolent spirit to do. The final defeat of the Southern cause did not sober—it infuriated him and he went swaggering about the streets of the prostrate capitol, with shot guns and revolvers about him, shooting with the reckless recklessness that a Malay runs amuck, but killing no one and wounding nothing that we remember but a statute in the rotunda of the capitol. Since then he has been engaged in several scandalous brawls, that ruined him socially, and injured what remained of his political reputation. The Southern Opinion, under his management, has been the vehicle of more personal abuse than Brick Pomeroy's La Crosse Democrat. One purpose however he kept steadily in view to foster local pride and prejudice, breed contempt for the people of the North and hatred of the General Government and to fan the expiring hope of an ultimate resurrection of the Lost Cause. He was the one unsigned paladin who refused to abandon it or drop the banner that the bronzed soldiers had borne in the thick of a hundred conflicts. He was exceedingly brave after the battles were over and the bugles had sounded a long truce to arms. Now he is gone the world is not the loser.—Cin Com Nov 25

Defining Their Position

Some of the [illegible] hard to [illegible] him to have [illegible] possession letters written by Gen Grant in 1866 in which it is alleged that he [illegible] stated that he had ten thousand dollars to place at the disposal of the friends of Nesmith [illegible] the re-election of the latter to the Senate. Dr Bayley has made a statement to this effect in Corvallis and made [illegible] to many citizens without any attempt at secrecy or concealment. From this he argues that conservative men like himself are the ones who should receive official appointments from Grant and that [illegible] have no business to grumble about it.

Now if these letters are in existence why did not Bayley and his friends who were so anxious to elect Nesmith in 1866 produce them on that occasion? Were they afraid they would be liable to the accusation of working each for his share of the ten thousand dollars? If that amount of money was ready for them in case they should succeed in electing Nesmith, their conduct on that occasion is susceptible of easy explanation. But this attempt to hide their conduct behind the name of Gen Grant by imputing to him an offer to bribe them to vote for Nesmith, is very lame and foolish. And the idea that this alleged transaction establishes such a community of feeling and interest between Grant and themselves as to make them the most worthy persons to receive official promotion at his hands, is a mode of reasoning which is highly characteristic of the "mercenary brigade." They had better tell this story about Grant to each other exclusively. Everybody else will laugh at it. No doubt Nesmith's disparaging remarks about Grant, including his assertion that Grant was a "drunken Democrat" were made out of pure gratitude to the General for having offered ten thousand dollars to secure his re-election!

But scouting this story as ridiculous in so far as it relates to Grant, there are deductions from Bayley's narration of it which possess some importance. It is an admission by Bayley that his object in the Legislature in 1866 was to elect Nesmith. It is a further admission that he is not a Republican now and will do what he can to elect Nesmith in 1870. He claims office on the ground that he is "conservative," and he will therefore oppose Williams and every other "Radical" for the Senate when the next election takes place. Of course this was to be expected anyway since the man who would vote against the Fourteenth Amendment cannot be relied on in any case as a Republican, but is satisfactory to have this admission from the gentleman himself. Put him down for Nesmith in the next contest. We have had him down in that list all the time.

The Naturalization Law

Senator Williams, so the dispatches state will introduce a new bill in Congress to regulate the naturalization of aliens. It is to be hoped that such precautions will be provided that naturalization frauds committed for political purposes on the eve of important elections may be prevented. The most effective way to secure this desirable result would seem to be to place the subject under the exclusive control of the United States Courts. The Republican party does not want to restrict naturalizations, that party is willing to make them even more liberal than now. But it does desire, as all good citizens should desire, that the frauds which are being continually perpetrated under cover of the present naturalization laws, and which are every year growing more flagrant and enormous, should be stopped. These laws are used to vote persons who are not legal voters as well as to give the ballot to an empty name—"robbing the cradle and the grave and voting the dead and the unborn."

The exclusion of the Asiatic races from citizenship will satisfy the public mind in the Pacific States, and remove the most powerful objection which is felt against the constitutional amendment securing the suffrage to all citizens without distinction of race or color. If, after a further trial of say twenty five or fifty years, it shall be thought safe and proper to confer American citizenship on them the act can be performed. In the meantime they can be protected from the injustice and oppression of unequal laws, and allowed to enjoy the fruits of their labor without molestation from partisan Legislatures. When once the status of the Chinaman is settled in accordance with this doctrine, we hope Democrats will see the propriety of letting him alone. Their persecution of the negro after his manumission led to his becoming a citizen and a voter and we hope they will not keep after the Chinaman so sharply as to make a similar result in his case an immediate and unavoidable necessity.

Johnson's Office-Holders

In his message to Congress, Johnson complains terribly because of the frauds on the revenue. He talks as if he thought, or at least as if he would make people believe, that the blame of these peculations rests on Congress. It is well known that almost every department of the public service is filled with persons whose political service the Executive bought with official appointments and now he pretends to complain because these venal creatures have proved to be dishonest! It will be the first duty of General Grant's administration to root out the corrupt men who have been fastened upon the public service by Mr Johnson. In every part of the country the service is disgraced and the treasury robbed by the officials selected by him to control public opinion in favor of "my policy." Before the tenure of office bill passed the service became so disgraced by his shameless prostitution of the appointing power that the number of really good men in official position is comparatively small.

Advice to Pendleton.—On the 24th November the New York [illegible] published another of its series of articles on Pendleton and the greenback question. [illegible] is noteworthy as it [illegible] would [illegible] be the position of the Eastern Democracy in future. That paper [illegible] strong [illegible] Pendleton not to obstruct his chances of future usefulness by clinging to a theory which is growing [illegible] the practical politics of the country. It says the West will probably [illegible] the next nomination [illegible] Pendleton will almost certainly receive it unless he is defeated as he was last summer by his obnoxious theory. This theory is not in accordance with law or constitution [illegible] court of justice would [illegible] it to private debts. Thus the great greenback issue from which the Democracy hoped so much, has vanished into thin air.

Ocean Steamers and Subsidies

It is an undeniable fact that Great Britain and France are rapidly absorbing all the richest commerce of the world while America which should compete with them [illegible] in nautical and commercial enterprises is as rapidly falling behind those countries in this competition. From a late article on this subject in the New York Herald we take the following:

Great Britain gives many millions annually to support steam lines [illegible] that they are not simply an [illegible] national blessing enlarging commerce [illegible] manufactures making the nation known [illegible] quick and valuable opportunity for the transport of passengers treasure and letters and [illegible] [illegible] the highest grade of prosperity. With [illegible] steam lines we grow ignorant of the world [illegible] there is half a continent lying to the south of us and three fourths of our best commercial men and of our congressional representatives cannot [illegible] the countries that compose it [illegible] languages. We boast of our civilization and [illegible] this we boast of a humbug while we are so deeply steeped in ignorance for lack of steamship communication. We [illegible] the [illegible] one sixth of the South American trade [illegible] our very doors. England and France have [illegible] out of it [illegible] entirely by subsidizing steam lines. On an average one half of one per cent of the increase of commerce with other countries pays for the subsidies granted by England.

The article which we publish aptly says: We want naval architects and iron ships. Wood is becoming obsolete in the hulls of vessels which require the maximum of strength. Iron built sailing and steam ships are now recognized as the best by every commercial nation of Europe. Our clumsy wooden tubs cannot compare with the light draught light hulled, clean built and beautifully designed ships that spring daily from the shores of England and France into the Atlantic and enrich those nations.

It is true, also, that the decadence of our commerce is not entirely due to war but rather to bad legislation. Let the Government freely grant subsidies in aid of public prosperity. When a subsidy is given let it be stipulated that the ships shall average a certain rate per hour and not be [illegible] to exceed a certain amount of [illegible] per day while every ton of capacity shall carry a certain proportion of freight. In this way we shall get the great essentials to perfect vessels speed, economy of transportation and great carrying capacity. This will force good naval architecture and put the best steam fleet on the ocean that can be placed there.

Let Congress take this matter in hand at once for it is a problem filled with more interest to the nation than any political one now before them. Let us first reconstruct our commerce and it will be the most powerful aid to national reconstruction.

The Public Credit and Internal Improvements

No doubt the interest that is felt by the people of Oregon in the general subject of lending the credit of the State of counties and of municipal corporations to aid internal improvements, will cause the opinion of Judge Deady in the case of [illegible] vs. The City of Portland to receive very general attention. This is the first judicial decision in which the validity of the recent acts to lend the public credit in this way has been discussed though Judge Boise of the Supreme Court of the State in a decision rendered some months ago, plainly intimated that he regarded the proceeding wholly unconstitutional. We apprehend it will now be generally conceded that these attempts to pledge the future prosperity or labor of the country to the payment or guarantee of stocks or bonds of private corporations formed for building railways and the like, are failures and that nothing can be done in this line at least till the Constitution is changed. True the Supreme Court of the State has not yet had occasion to pass upon the subject but there can be little doubt what its decision would be. The opinion of Judge Deady is wrought out with much labor and learning, and will possess an interest for the Oregon public such as rarely attaches to a judicial decision.

Can't Help Yourselves.—One of our Democratic neighbors protests against our using the New York World as Democratic testimony. The objection is not good. The Tammany organization stands at the head of the Democratic party of the United States, and by money and management controls its action. The World is their newspaper organ. This organization has controlled the party for years and will continue to control it. No doubt there are many Democrats who sigh for freedom but their party is fast bound by Tammany, and they can't help themselves. The World therefore is an authority. It is the organ of those who furnish the brains and the money for the Democratic party. Without Tammany the Democrats would have carried scarcely an electoral vote in the Northern States.

Slightly Inconsistent.—Before the election the Democratic press was deeply concerned on account of Grant's "persecution of the Jews as a class." Since the election the same journals have unanimously taken to attack August Belmont in particular. This is slightly inconsistent. But as they did not hurt Grant much we suppose Belmont can stand it.

Question Settled.—As Jeff Davis' petticoats have been found in a sealed box in the Treasury at Washington, this fact ought to settle the distress still so prevalent among Democrats about the old "Christian gentleman's" sex when captured.

The crews were shipped with the express understanding that they should be paid two months in advance. They were to serve under the U. S. flag for a year. OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH

San Francisco, Dec 14—9 P M.—On Monday night at a meeting of the Board of Supervisors Supervisor Canavan alluded to some recent action of the ring as a put up thing to rob the City. Supervisor Cavallier took it up as a personal affront, and demanded a retraction. This Mr Canavan refused, whereupon Cavallier sent him a peremptory challenge. Canavan accepted the challenge without hesitation, and the preliminaries were settled for a duel which was to have taken place yesterday morning but on Saturday evening the challenging party commenced a parley and asked leave to withdraw the challenge under conditions. The challenged party refusing all conditions, Cavallier finally withdrew his challenge absolutely and unconditionally. This action, following the attack of Columbus Sims on Mr Canavan, tends to confirm the belief that Mr Canavan's manly and determined opposition to the schemes prejudicial to the city, has created a deadly opposition towards him upon the part of interested parties.

It is a very peculiar circumstance that we find some of the most malignant political foes of General Grant claiming him now as a Democrat, though he was a good enough Republican till after the election. The day after the late election two or three dozen Democratic organs claimed Grant as a sound brother Democrat whom they had all along been fighting under misapprehension. It was the old scene in the farce: "Tell me my money, tell me have you got such a thing as a strawberry mark on your left arm?" "I have." "Then you are my long lost brother."

Charity.—A large class of people professing to be virtuous on many occasions forget that to be charitable [illegible] is the least virtue a person can possess. AT

McCORMICK'S BOOK STORE!

WHERE MY

HEAD-QUARTERS!

HAVE BEEN ESTABLISHED

For the past Seven Years,

AND WHERE

I WILL HOLD MY ANNUAL CARNIVAL

DURING THE COMING FESTIVAL

THAT ALL MAY OBSERVE

The Christmas and New Year's

HOLIDAYS!

I herewith issue my Annual

PROCLAMATION!!!

Dear Parents and Children—once more I appear
And wish you good Christmas and Happy New Year!
I've brought you glad tidings—I've opened once more
My Budget of Wonders—at McCormick's Book Store
I've spread out my treasures—so give me a call
And view the nice GIFTS I've procured for you all
My Presents this year were conveyed to the town,
By Mercer's new clipper, the swift Sallie Brown.
The stock's most complete. The assortment comprises
Curiosities rare of all shapes and all sizes!
I've Dollies that talk—I've babies that dance
(Some, very handsome, I purchased in France.)
I've Fish that can swim, I've Lobsters which strive
To come so like nature you'd think they're alive
I've Guns and I've Cannon—I've [illegible] Savings Banks,
And Soldiers that look very neat when in ranks
I've Puzzles and Pistols. Then Christmas to keep,
I've Candles, Reflectors and Brackets—a heap
I've beautiful Baskets, (a nice gift for Ma)
And handsome Cigar Stands just suited for Pa
While there's nothing so welcome to uncle or aunt,
As a beautiful portrait of President Grant
I've Work Boxes—handsome as ever were made—
With ladies' utensils all nicely arrayed
I've nice setts of China—I've Vases of Flowers
And Musical Boxes that play at all hours
I've Furniture, Villages, Steamboats, and Blocks,
That gay little joker called Jack in the Box!
I've Tables, and Dressers for China or delf,
I've nice Solitaire, that you play by yourself!
I've new Magic Lanterns—a beautiful sight
To make all good children merry at night
For girls at school I've a nice Skipping Rope,
And for family fun I've the new [illegible]
I've Games that instruct and [illegible] that amuse
For Gifts to good people I never refuse
In fine I've got all that each heart could desire,
To name them all over your patience I'd tire
But call on me early for all in my line
I'll visit your houses all over this State—
In Washington [illegible]
I'm sure to find [illegible]
I've travelled for years—you all [illegible] number
I'll be Sixty nine at the [illegible]
My hair is all white and my body [illegible]
To the latest sensation—the ten [illegible]
On Christmas Eve night when [illegible] all asleep
With pack on my back down the chimney I'll creep
I'll lay out my Presents but [illegible]
Should I find [illegible]
So for HOLIDAY GOODS [illegible] as honey
Go to McCORMICK'S [illegible] money
Nice Presents or Gifts—any kind you require
You'll find at the "FRANKLIN" [illegible] enquire
On FRONT STREET, Near Alder 105,
In fact you can't miss it [illegible]
Don't ask [illegible] if you try
That you should [illegible]
But to you [illegible] I give
Live well yourself and thus let the [illegible] live

The Fire of Sunday Night.—At the late hour at which the fire occurred at Fisher's stable on Sunday night and during the unavoidable confusion, it was not possible to learn much as to the supposed origin of the fire, or as to the losses sustained. We learned yesterday, however, that the stable was occupied by James Dough, a drayman who in company with a couple of other men had left the premises but about 15 minutes before the flames were discovered. Upon going out of the office in which they had been sitting, they blew out the candle, Mr Daugherty taking the precaution to return and snuff out the wick with his wetted fingers. There had been no smoking about the stable and it is thought impossible that the fire had been communicated from the stove or pipe in the rear of the room as the wood near them was well guarded. From this it is suspected that the kindling of the fire was the work of an incendiary and Mr. Daugherty offers a large reward for his or their arrest and conviction. There was a considerable quantity of baled hay in the stable, among which the fire caught and made rapid progress. It was at first thought that the house of Mr. Fisher, which stands within a few feet of the stable must also be destroyed; but by the efforts of the firemen it was saved without damage save the [illegible] of the paint. The household goods were mostly [illegible] from the house, before the fire in the stable was [illegible], and in the hurry and confusion, a good many articles were broken or damaged. A span of horses, two [illegible] and some bales of hay were got out of the stable, the latter showing some damage. Mr Fisher's loss is probably from four to six hundred dollars and Mr Daugherty's loss in hay, harness, furniture (he lived in the back rooms), clothing, etc, will reach to between [illegible] hundred dollars. Three hundred dollars of [illegible] and greenbacks. A portion of the coin [illegible] yesterday from the ruins. Mr. D lost all [illegible] except the suit he had on, and all his furniture.

[illegible] Upton, Judge.—The following were [illegible] in the Circuit Court yesterday

[illegible] and Catherine O'Hara vs. City of Portland—[illegible] of motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict, for determination.

Robert McAlla vs. Multnomah County; Jury unable to agree and discharged.

[illegible] Sheppard vs. Al. Zeiber, Sheriff; continued until next term of court

State of Oregon vs. Thomas Hamilton; dismissed for want of prosecution, owing to absence of principal witness.

State of Oregon vs. Polly Bequette; dismissed for want [illegible] owing to absence of principal witness

[illegible] vs. Le Chu, demurrer overruled and leave given [illegible] to file answer

[illegible] Wilson vs. Wm. Tierney, motion for reference under advisement.

[illegible] Williams vs. Ebenezer East; motion to set [illegible] overruling demurrer taken under advisement.

[illegible] Hannah et al vs. C. S. Silver, the State of Oregon [illegible] as defendant; dismissed on stipulations

State of Oregon vs. D. B. Hannah et al., dismissed on [illegible]

[illegible] Hannah et al. vs. A. L. Marshall, the State of [illegible] substituted as defendant; dismissed on stipulation.

The above completed the law business for this term. [illegible] were dismissed Saturday evening. The court [illegible] recess till Monday next, at which time the judge [illegible] hearing the chancery cases.

[illegible]—We learn from the Unionist that the [illegible] return of polls assessed in Multnomah county, now on file in the office of Secretary of State, only allows [illegible] and eighty polls. At the late election [illegible] twenty-four hundred and forty-three votes [illegible] by the official returns on file in the Secretary's office. Is it possible that there are nineteen [illegible] and sixty-three votes in Multnomah, exempt [illegible] of poll tax? The only persons exempt are [illegible] years of age and upward, firemen, and persons [illegible] in the county. Are there nineteen hundred [illegible] sixty-three persons of these classes? Not much. [illegible] something in this business—carelessness [illegible] or an erroneous return. The [illegible] says: "In Marion and every other county [illegible] are Republican officers, the proportion is [illegible] of Multnomah. Will one of the Democratic [illegible] Portland please explain? Is there favoritism [illegible] by the Democratic county officials of Multnomah, [illegible] of assessing poll tax?"

[illegible] River.—A friend who has been up the river [illegible]: "The P. T. Co. are running a regular [illegible] Corvallis and intermediate points on the Willamette [illegible] are intending, as soon as the stage of water will [illegible] make regular trips to Eugene City. Freights [illegible] are in liberal supply and passengers numerous. [illegible] the dry season nearly all their boats were [illegible] and refitted in a No. 1 style, and two new [illegible] superior model, added in the meantime, with [illegible] modern improvements (previously described), [illegible] respectable fleet of nine passenger and freight [illegible]. On Friday last the Echo, the slowest boat of [illegible] Co.'s line, and the Success, thought to try their [illegible] from Oregon City to Salem. The Success [illegible] minutes' start, kept the lead for about 15 minutes [illegible] the Echo closed the gap handsomely and kept [illegible] to the next wood-yard, when the Success again [illegible] her wood ran short; thus they made it until [illegible] wooding was passed, and on the home stretch the Echo gained the 30 minutes, they came in [illegible] neck, blowing like porpoises, the Success having [illegible] her boiler at every joint, to make it, with [illegible] Needed.—Before the fire at Mr. Fisher's [illegible] extinguished, Sunday night, the cistern [illegible] the engines were taking water became exhausted, making it necessary to lay down a great length [illegible] hose to connect with another cistern several [illegible]. There was of course some delay, but not [illegible] productive of serious additional damage [illegible] building been a large one, the damage and loss [illegible] been great. At all events the incident served [illegible] the want which exists in that part of the [illegible] cisterns. In many parts of the city, back [illegible], and especially north of Washington, it [illegible] found almost impossible to procure water sufficient [illegible] even a small fire. It is certainly [illegible] of the city to provide as soon as practicable for [illegible] cisterns as would enable the engines to take [illegible] any point without being obliged to use more [illegible] four hundred feet of hose. It is cheaper [illegible] protection than to suffer losses by fire.

[illegible] Mention.—There was some drift running in the [illegible] day, indicating a rise in some of the tributaries [illegible] valley. The river, however, is still very low. [illegible] was falling copiously last evening......The [illegible] concluded to fill the canal at the intersection of Alder and Fourth, with bricks, instead of [illegible] street. Our suggestion for a fence didn't [illegible] the Commissioner favorably......To-morrow the examination and closing exercises of the public schools are [illegible]. Visitors will be received to-morrow at the [illegible] Street School. ....There is the best display of fancy goods now in the various show windows of [illegible] ever exhibited north of San Francisco. Every [illegible]......We saw a number of men yesterday in [illegible] dwelling houses. The city is crammed full of [illegible] and vacated houses are hard to find.

Bark Occident.—This vessel left San Francisco [illegible] 25th for the Columbia river; arrived off the [illegible] days, lay off three days for favorable weather [illegible] passed the bar and put into Baker's Bay where [illegible] till last Monday week, when she came out [illegible] heating up the river. She is now at Oak [illegible] from which place several attempts have been made [illegible] up; but all of which have failed in consequence of strong head winds. It is expected that the Okanagan will tow her up to this city to-day. [illegible] only a light cargo, consisting of general merchandise, will load back with Oregon produce, a cargo [illegible] been already engaged. Captain Simpson came [illegible] Friday evening on the Astoria and Portland steamer [illegible] is remaining here to await the arrival of his vessel.

[illegible] Butter.—The following from an exchange might [illegible] written, for aught we know, to hit off some of [illegible] bought and sold in Portland. At all events, [illegible] palpable hit. The writer says: "The woman [illegible] the butter which we bought last week at Mr. [illegible] store is respectfully requested to exercise more [illegible] with the next lot, in proportioning the ingredients. The last batch had too much hair in it for butter, [illegible] quite enough for a waterfall. This is a shoe [illegible] the raw material. Use more grease and less [illegible] more hair and less grease. There's no use in [illegible] yourself hard-headed if butter is 25 cents a [illegible]

[illegible] Poor Sick.—Dr. Ellis informs us and requests [illegible] state that after the 1st of next month, he will give [illegible] advice and medicines without charge, to the poor [illegible] city who may call upon him at his office, or who [illegible] require his attendance at their homes. He intends [illegible] such arrangements as will secure medical aid to [illegible] person who may need and desire treatment. He [illegible] to receive by next steamer a full chest of medicines from the celebrated house of Dr. Squibbs, of New [illegible]. This proposition of the Doctor is certainly humane and cannot be too highly commended.

[illegible] at Salem.—The Bates Company leave this [illegible] for Salem, where they intend to remain till the middle of next week. At that time they will [illegible] and re-open Oro Fino Theater on Christmas Eve. [illegible] stay among us is dependant upon their success [illegible], we trust that they will have a lucky trip to [illegible] stay at the capital, and that, upon their [illegible] here our citizens will give them a liberal patronage. Several talented actors and actresses are expected [illegible] by next steamer to join the troupe.

[illegible] Resigns.—Recorder Hoffman informs us that he [illegible] tender his resignation of the office of Recorder to-morrow, to take effect upon the appointment or [illegible] of a successor. Mr. Hoffman contemplates a [illegible] of three or four months to the Eastern States, and [illegible] probably leave here about Christmas.

New Year's Eve Party.—There will be a New Year's [illegible] at the Exchange Hotel, to which "mine host" respectfully invites the dancing public. It will no doubt [illegible] singly pleasant affair as have always been the [illegible] heretofore given at the Exchange.

[illegible] Election.—Harmony Lodge, F. & A. M., at [illegible] annual election held last evening elected the following [illegible] for the ensuing year: W. H. Brackett, W. M.; [illegible] Joyce, S. W.; W. A. Daly, J. W.; J. L. Atkinson, [illegible]; W. D. Carter, Sec.; A. G. Walling, T.

[illegible]—The steamship Active, F. C. Scholl, commander, will sail for Victoria at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Holiday Presents.—Mrs. Levy has just received, per [illegible] "Ajax," an elegant lot of Double and Single [illegible] Shawls; Velvet Circulars, Astrican Cloth [illegible], etc. etc.

[illegible] and Pleasing.—Those new and beautiful [illegible] Parlor Suites, now so fashionable at the East, [illegible] at Hargren & Shindler's. Also, many rare [illegible] and use, for the parlor and the

PREMIUM GANG PLOWS!

As the age in which we live demands progress in Farm Implements as well as in all other branches of industry, we have determined to enter extensively upon the manufacture of the known as "MASON'S PATENT PLOW," patented Oct. 3d, 1868. This Plow combines all the desirable points of a perfect implement, being simple in construction, cheap, durable, and of light draft. This Plow was awarded the First Premium at the Oregon State Fair, Oct. 3d, 1868. The depth of the furrow is regulated by the crank-axle, which is so arranged that the Plow can be driven deeper or shallower at the pleasure of the driver, when the team is moving, by means of a lever.

CELEBRATED GANG PLOW
"CHALLENGE!"

This is the most substantial and durable Plow ever offered to the public, being made of wrought iron and steel, in lieu of cast iron, commonly used. With this Plow a man or boy can do more work than two men can do with walking plows, with the same amount of team. Hence, it will be seen that it will more than pay for itself in one season's plowing.

Any person wishing any of the above Plows, by ordering through Wells, Fargo & Co., can have the same shipped to their order.

PRICE OF PLOWS AT PORTLAND, $110 gold coin.

The undersigned having the exclusive right of the State of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and Montana Territories, any person wishing to purchase the right to manufacture and sell in certain Counties, by addressing the undersigned will be informed upon what terms the right may be obtained.

G. VENARD,
CHARTRES COFFEE!

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS.

TO THE CITIZENS OF OREGON:

I BEG LEAVE TO CALL THE ATTENTION OF THE Citizens of Oregon to my celebrated AROMATIC SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS, a medicinal Diet Drink of eminently salutary qualities manufactured by myself, exclusively, at my factory at Schiedam, in Holland.

In Gravel, Gout and Rheumatism, in Obstructions of the Bladder and Kidneys its efforts are prompt, decided, and invariably reliable.

It is now some twenty years since the Proprietor first introduced it to the American public, and during that time he has received over 2,000 letters from physicians, endorsing it as the purest liquor they have ever used in their practice.

It is made from barley of the finest quality, selected with great care from the products of the most celebrated grain-growing districts, is flavored with the essence of the aromatic juniper berry of Italy, and is rectified by a peculiar process which expels from the spirit every acrid particle.

As a means of preventing and correcting disagreeable and often dangerous effects produced on the stomach and bowels by a change of water—a virtue to which travelers, new settlers, and all unacclimated persons are peculiarly liable—the

SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS

Will be found absolutely infallible; while, in cases of dropsy, gravel, obstructions of the kidneys, disease of the bladder, stricture, dyspepsia and general debility, it is recommended most emphatically by the most distinguished members of the medical profession.

It is put up in quart and pint bottles, in cases with the name of the undersigned on the bottle and cork, and a fac simile of his signature on the label. For sale by all respectable druggists and country merchants.

Are you WEAK, DEBILITATED, NERVOUS? Is your sleep disturbed? Do you have palpitation of the heart or an inclination to melancholy? D of such nature require a prompt DIURETIC, which will be found in

Wolfe's Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps.

Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps
Is sold by all Grocers and Apothecaries.

Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps
Is recommended by all the Medical Faculty.

Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps
Is imitated and counterfeited, and purchasers will have to use caution in purchasing.

WOLFE'S AROMATIC SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS,

Imported by UDOLPHO WOLFE, of New York, expressly for medicinal and private use.

WHAT DO YOU DRINK?

An Agricultural Ode

[illegible]

J. G. Whittier

Hooker

A writer in the [illegible] gives the following [illegible] and judicious [illegible] Hooker:

This capacious soul was lodged in one of the feeblest of bodies. Physiologists are never weary of telling us that masculine health is necessary to the vigor of the mind, but the vast mental strength of Hooker was independent of his physical constitution. His appearance in the pulpit conveyed no idea of a great man. Small in stature, with a low voice, using no gesture, never moving his person, [illegible] he seemed the very [illegible] incapacity, [illegible] the thoughtful listener found his mind [illegible] automaton speaker a [illegible] ecstasy breathed from the pallid lips, the profoundest thought and the most extensive learning found calm expression in the low accent, and, more surprising still, the somewhat rude mother tongue of Englishmen was heard for the first time from the lips of a master of prose composition demonstrating its capacity for all the purposes of the most refined and most enlarged philosophic thought. Indeed the serene might of Hooker's soul is perhaps most obviously perceived in his style, in the easy power with which he wields and bends to his purpose a language not yet trained into a ready vehicle of philosophical expression. It is doubtful if any English writer since his time has shown equal power in the construction of long sentences, those sentences in which the thought and the atmosphere of the thought and the modifications of the thought, are all included in one sweeping period, which gathers clause after clause as it rolls melodiously on to its foreseen conclusion, and having the general gravity and grandeur of its modulated movement pervaded by an inexpressibly sweet undertone of individual sentiment. And the strength is free from every fretful and morbid quality which commonly taints the performances of a strong mind lodged in a sickly body. It is as serene, wholesome and comprehensive as it is powerful.

James Parton writes in [illegible]: If you look into the early life of truly helpful men, those who make life easier or nobler to those who come after them, you will almost invariably find that they live purely in the days of their youth. In early life the brain, though abounding in vigor, is sensitive and very susceptible to injury, and this to such a degree, that a comparatively brief and moderate indulgence in vicious pleasures appears to lower the tone and impair both the delicacy and efficiency of the brain for life. This is not preaching, boys—it is simply the truth of science.

There is a negro woman living in Clay county, Mo., by the name of Winney, who is 118 years old. She was born in Virginia in 1750. Her former master says he has known her about sixty years, and has never known her to be sick but once, and then she had the fever and ague. He further states that forty years ago he was paid fifty dollars to take her and keep her. She is of sound mind, can see quite plainly, enjoys good health, and looks and acts as though she will live for years to come.

At the Boston Female Suffrage Convention the irrepressible Daniel Pratt exclaimed: "I am for women's rights. I go for giving every old maid a husband, and every old bachelor a wife. I am an old bachelor." His voice was drowned in a roar of laughter, and the announcement of the next speaker shut him off.

For every three hundred and fifty bushels of potatoes removed from our fields the soil sustains a loss of ninety pounds of potash. Consequently wood ashes is one of the most valuable manures in the culture of the potato.

It is announced by one of those knowing fellows, a Washington correspondent, that the foreign appointments will all be made by Mr. Colfax, and that he will select literary gentlemen for the positions.

In the town of Goshen, Vermont, there was only one Democrat last September, and he bolted for Grant, as he said he would. At the same time Republican gain 100 per cent.

A vessel is building at New York larger than any other in the world except the Great Eastern. She will be named the America, and is designed for the China trade.

It seems strange that housekeepers don't buy pails and tubs with brass hoops and trimmings. They cost a little more at first, but last wonderfully.

Thirty one years ago, Rev. Elijah P. Lovejoy was killed by a mob in Alton, Ill., for publishing an anti-slavery newspaper.

The Princess of Prussia, Queen Victoria's eldest daughter, now has six children, the youngest six months old.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

Weekly Oregonian.

FOR 1869.

Nineteenth Volume!

Only $3.00 a Year.

By common consent the OREGONIAN ranks first among the papers published in the Northwest. It is the oldest paper in the State and its circulation and influence are greater than that of any other two papers combined. As a journal of enterprise in gathering the latest intelligence and in giving in each issue a larger amount and greater variety of reading matter it has no competitor. It is thoroughly identified with this city and State and neighboring Territories, where the number of its readers and its influence are constantly increasing.

An unflinching advocate of sound Union principles, it at the same time pays special attention not only to MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST, but to everything of moment to the great

Agricultural, Manufacturing,

AND MINING INTERESTS,

And to the development of the resources and settlement of the Northwest.

Its columns contain a carefully prepared digest of

Among its corps of writers are regular correspondents at New York and Washington City, men who, having lived in this State, are able to write on Eastern affairs both politically and commercially from an Oregon standpoint.

Its Literary and General Selections are from the best sources.

EXTENDED AND RELIABLE

are furnished every week, giving the Financial, Dry Goods, Hardware and General Market Reports of Portland, and the latest reports by Telegraph of the San Francisco and New York markets. These reports are acknowledged to be the most accurate published in the State.

In every department it will be as it has been, the foremost in the State in the field of journalism. Being firmly established, it will go forward with confidence, making new plans for improvement and usefulness, and hopes to gain increased circulation and support.
